SECTION - A
(READING)

1) Read the following passage carefully and then answer the question that follow:

Amazing cars, huge houses, lots of servants and expensive furniture show that we love extravagance. But we all would like to see a green and clean world, where breathing is a healthy and pleasing thing to do, rather than a necessity you would avoid if you could. So how do we achieve that elusive balance between extravagance and environmental - friendly living? By being aware, of course.

You want to buy that incredibly expensive car, buy it. But also include walking in your routine. Walk to your grocery store. In fact, why don't you chart a mental map? Walk to all those places that are 10-15 minute walk from your house. When you go shopping, try parking your car five minutes away from the mall and walk saves that much petrol, and stops that much pollution.

Can't be bothered to turn off all lights and fans when not in use? By doing that, you save that much energy.

Oh yes, go ahead and spend all the money you have on all the luxuries you can buy. Just make sure that you save wherever you can. That is all you need to do. So stop feeling guilty about all the harm you are causing society, and get involved in some planet saving activity. The smallest gesture makes a difference. And the word is 'awareness'.

- a) Which line in the passage exposes our love for extravagance? [2]
- b) Why is clean and green environment important? [2]
- c) How can we save both petrol and pollution? [2]
- d) Give one ideal way to save energy: [1]
- e) "The smallest gesture makes a difference". The gesture here refers to: [1]

2) Read the poem and answer the following questions:

See how a seed, which Autumn flung down,
 And through the winter neglected lay,
 Uncoils two little green leaves and two brown,
 With tiny root taking hold on the clay
 As, lifting and strengthening day by day,
 It pushes red branchless, sprouts new leaves,
 And cell after cell the power in it weaves
 Out of the storehouse of soil and clime,
 To fashion a Tree in due course of time,
 Tree with rough bark and boughs' expansion,
 Where the crow can build his mansion,
 Or a man, in some new May,
 Lie under whispering leaves and say,
 'Are the ills of one's life so very bad
 When a Green Tree makes me deliciously, glad?
 As I do now. But where shall I be.
 When this little seed is a tall green tree?

- a) How and when does the seed come to be on the ground? [2]
 b) Where does the seed get its power to grow from? [1]
 c) How does the poet feel while lying under a green tree? [1]
